DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-4, drawn to an air treatment apparatus comprising an enclosed housing with a plurality of through openings; a negative ion generator and a photo-ionizing assembly, classified in class 96, subclass 16.
 - II. Claims 5-20, drawn to an air treatment apparatus comprising a base; a frustoconical housing; a negative ion generator; a fan; a photo-ionizing assembly; and an electrical circuit, classified in class 422, subclass 186.15.
 - III. Claim 21, drawn to an air treatment apparatus comprising a photo-ionizing assembly; a negative ion generator; and a power supply, classified in class 96, subclass 16.
 - IV. Claims 22-23, drawn to a method for treating air, classified in class 423, subclass 245.1.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the apparatus of Group I has a different mode of operation than the apparatus of Group II, since the apparatus of Group II requires: a base; a frustoconical housing, a fan and an electrical circuit, which are not required or present in the apparatus of Group I.

Art Unit: 1754

3. Inventions I and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the apparatus of Group I has a different mode of operation than the apparatus of Group III, since the apparatus of Group III requires: a power supply which is not required or present in the apparatus of Group I.

4. Inventions II and III are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the apparatus of Group II has a different mode of operation than the apparatus of Group III, since the apparatus of Group II requires: a base; a frustoconical housing, a fan and an electrical circuit, which are not required or present in the apparatus of Group II.

5. Inventions IV and I are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the process as claimed can be practiced with a materially different apparatus such as the ones of Groups II and III.

6. Inventions IV and II are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the process as claimed can be practiced with a materially different apparatus such as the ones of Groups I and III.

7. Inventions IV and III are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the process as claimed can be practiced with a materially different apparatus such as the ones of Groups I and II.

8. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

9. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

10. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
